

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

JACQUERE J. DORAN,

Petitioner,

v.

WARDEN, FCI-HERLONG,

Respondent.

No. 2:22-cv-2040 KJN P

ORDER

Petitioner is a federal prisoner, proceeding pro se, with an application for writ of habeas corpus pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2241. All parties consented to the jurisdiction of a United States Magistrate Judge for all proceedings pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(c)(1). (ECF No. 15.) Petitioner seeks an order directing application of earned time credits under the First Step Act (“FSA”). Respondent’s motion to dismiss is before the court.

As discussed below, respondent’s motion is granted.

Background

Petitioner is an inmate currently housed at the Federal Correctional Institution -- Herlong.

In April of 2019, in the Eastern District of Missouri, petitioner pled guilty to being a felon in possession of a firearm in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(1). (ECF No. 18-1 at 2-29.)

Petitioner was sentenced to serve 96 months in federal custody. (ECF No. 18-1 at 14-21.)

1 Bureau of Prisons (“BOP”) records reflect that petitioner’s projected release date is May 2 29, 2025, assuming he receives good conduct credit.<sup>1</sup> (ECF No. 18-1 at 31-32.) Respondent 3 confirms that under the FSA, petitioner has earned twelve months of earned time credits.

4 The Petition

5 In his first claim, petitioner alleges respondent unlawfully and secretly refuses to apply 6 petitioner’s earned time and vested diminution credits that reduce his custody where federal law 7 established a mandatory new early release date. (ECF No. 10 at 5.) In his second claim, 8 petitioner contends the BOP is improperly denying him FSA time credits. (ECF No. 10 at 6.) To 9 date, petitioner has earned 407 days of FSA credits, which would reduce his prison release date 10 by one year, and 42 days would be credited towards residential reentry center (“RRC”) 11 placement. Petitioner also claims that after filing the instant petition, he was informed that the 12 BOP instituted a new policy which implemented factors not included in the initial BOP program 13 statement. (ECF No. 10 at 10.) Such new policy provided for the disallowance of FSA earned 14 time credits for a variety of reasons; for example, if a prisoner received a 100 or 200-level 15 incident report within the prior three years, application of FSA earned time credits could be 16 denied. Petitioner argues that the new policy and procedure violates the Due Process and Ex Post 17 Facto Clauses. Petitioner contends that by enacting the FSA, Congress granted inmates a liberty 18 interest in early release, and the BOP was required to provide inmates prior notice of what 19 prohibited conduct would result in such deprivation. (ECF No. 10 at 11.) Petitioner seeks an 20 order requiring the BOP to apply his earned FSA time credits toward his projected release date 21 and RRC placement.

22 Motion to Dismiss

23 Under Rule 4, if a petition is not dismissed at screening, the court “must order the 24 respondent to file an answer, motion, or other response” to the petition. R. Governing 2254 Cases 25 4. A motion to dismiss a petition for writ of habeas corpus is construed as a request for the court 26

27 <sup>1</sup> This date was as of March 30, 2023, the date petitioner’s report was run by the BOP. (ECF No.
28 18-1 at 31.)

1 to dismiss under Rule 4 of the Rules Governing Section 2254 Cases. O'Bremski v. Maass, 915 2 F.2d 418, 420 (9th Cir. 1990). Under Rule 4, a district court must dismiss a habeas petition if it 3 “plainly appears” that the petitioner is not entitled to relief. See Valdez v. Montgomery, 918 F.3d 4 687, 693 (9th Cir. 2019); Boyd v. Thompson, 147 F.3d 1124, 1127 (9th Cir. 1998).

5 Respondent's Position

6 Respondent argues that this court lacks jurisdiction because petitioner lacks Article III 7 standing, his claims are not ripe, and he fails to state a claim under law. First, petitioner is barred 8 from demanding discretionary earned time credits application because his high risk recidivism 9 risk score makes him ineligible. Second, because of the discretionary nature of the FSA earned 10 time credits and the statutory discretion the BOP has to assess both credits and goal achievement, 11 there is no “case or controversy,” petitioner has no standing and there is no ripe dispute for the 12 court to adjudicate. (ECF No. 18 at 4.) Consistent with the FSA and the requirements for use of 13 earned time credits under the FSA, the BOP refuses to apply the discretionary earned time credits 14 because petitioner has a recidivism risk score of high, which renders petitioner ineligible to 15 receive such credits. (ECF No. 18-1 at 37.) Third, petitioner fails to “provide case and 16 controversy as to what he disputes as to BOP discretionary ineligibility (high risk) assessment.” 17 (ECF No. 18 at 5.) This court may not review the BOP’s discretionary high risk assessment, and 18 the claim is not yet ripe because petitioner has over two years remaining on his sentence. (ECF 19 No. 18 at 5.) Finally, “petitioner otherwise fails to state a claim under § 2241 for an order 20 compelling action entrusted by law . . . to BOP discretionary action.” (ECF No. 18 at 6.) 21 Respondent contends petitioner’s demands are speculative and fail to demonstrate any immediate 22 injury that would be redressed by the relief requested and would, in any event, “invade the 23 statutory mandated discretion of the BOP.” (ECF No. 18 at 6.)

24 In support of the motion to dismiss, respondent submitted a declaration of Christopher 25 Liwag, the Sr. Correctional Programs Specialist with the BOP, who reviewed petitioner’s prisoner 26 records. (ECF No. 18-1 at 31.) Mr. Liwag described the three-level administrative review 27 process available to federal inmates challenging BOP actions and confirms that petitioner filed 28 administrative remedies regarding the application of credits toward his sentence at each level,

1 which were denied based on petitioner’s “ineligibility to apply time credits, for among other 2 reasons, his recidivism risk score.” (ECF No. 18-at at 32.) Mr. Liwag described the specific 3 provisions of the First Step Act related to earned time credits for participation in Evidence Based 4 Recidivism Reduction Programs (“EBRRs”) and Productive Activities (“PAs”). (ECF No. 18-1 5 at 33.) Based on his high risk recidivism score, Mr. Liwag states that petitioner is not eligible to 6 apply any FSA credits to petitioner’s sentence. (ECF No. 18-1 at 37.)

7 Petitioner’s Opposition

8 In opposition, petitioner first argues that “irrespective of the BOP having ‘discretion 9 whether to grant a federal prisoner applied FSA credits, petitioner should not be denied the earned 10 time credits simply because his current recidivism risk score happens to be high.” (ECF No. 21 at 11 2.) Petitioner contends he has done everything in his power to reduce his recidivism risk score 12 and his efforts meet the requirements that he make a good faith effort to lower the score. (ECF 13 No. 21 at 3) (citing 18 U.S.C. §§ 3632(d)(4)(C), 3624(g).) Petitioner states he has no control over 14 how fast the BOP calculates his participation and recidivism score and contends the BOP should 15 exercise its discretion in a fair and equitable manner.

16 Second, petitioner argues that he could be transferred to a re-entry center (halfway-house) 17 based on his earned FSA credits and current BOP policies/procedures, yet the BOP refuses to do 18 so. Petitioner has secured employment and could start work immediately upon his release to an 19 RRC. (ECF No. 21 at 4.)

20 Respondent did not file a reply.

21 Failure to State a Claim

22 The First Step Act (“FSA”) was enacted on December 21, 2018, and implemented a 23 number of prison and sentencing reforms, including computation of good time credits, reducing 24 and restricting mandatory minimum sentences, safety valve eligibility, retroactive application of 25 the Fair Sentencing Act, and the availability of early release. First Step Act of 2018, Pub. L. No.
26 115-391, 132 Stat. 5194 (2018).

27 Pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 3632, the United States Department of Justice (“DOJ”) published 28 the risk and needs assessment system on July 19, 2019. Press Release, U.S. Dep’t of Just.,

1 Department of Justice Announces the Release of 3,100 Inmates Under First Step Act, Publishes 2 Risk And Needs Assessment System (July 19, 2019), <<https://www.justice.gov/opa/pr/department-justice-announces-release-3100-inmates-under-first-step-act-publishes-risk-and>> (last 3 visited Sept. 8, 2023). Prisoners “who successfully complete[ ] evidence-based recidivism 4 reduction programming or productive activities” “shall earn 10 days of time credits for every 30 5 days of successful participation.” 18 U.S.C. § 3632(d)(4)(A) (emphasis added). In addition, a 6 prisoner assessed “to be at a minimum or low risk for recidivating, who, over 2 consecutive 7 assessments, has not increased their risk of recidivism, shall earn an additional 5 days of time 8 credits for every 30 days of successful participation in evidence-based recidivism reduction 9 programming or productive activities.” 18 U.S.C. § 3632(d)(4)(A)(ii) (emphasis added).

10 11 The statute limits the application of those time credits as follows:

12 Application of time credits toward prerelease custody or supervised 13 release. --Time credits earned under this paragraph by prisoners who 14 successfully participate in recidivism reduction programs or 15 productive activities shall be applied toward time in prerelease custody or supervised release. The Director of the Bureau of Prisons shall transfer eligible prisoners, as determined under section 3624(g), into prerelease custody or supervised release.

16 18 U.S.C. § 3632(d)(4)(C) (emphasis added).

17 Section 3624(g) sets forth which inmates can be considered “eligible” for application of 18 earned time credits:

19 (g) Prerelease custody or supervised release for risk and needs 20 assessment system participants.-- 21 (1) Eligible prisoners.--This subsection applies in the case of a prisoner (as such term is defined in section 3635) who--

22 (A) has earned time credits under the risk and needs assessment 23 system developed under subchapter D (referred to in this subsection as the “System”) in an amount that is equal to the remainder of the 24 prisoner’s imposed term of imprisonment;

25 (B) has shown through the periodic risk reassessments a demonstrated recidivism risk reduction or has maintained a minimum or low recidivism risk, during the prisoner’s term of imprisonment;

26 27 (C) has had the remainder of the prisoner’s imposed term of imprisonment computed under applicable law; and 28

1 (D) (i) in the case of a prisoner being placed in prerelease custody, 2 the prisoner--

3 (I) has been determined under the System to be a minimum or low 4 risk to recidivate pursuant to the last 2 reassessments of the prisoner; 5 or

6 (II) has had a petition to be transferred to prerelease custody or 7 supervised release approved by the warden of the prison, after the 8 warden's determination that--

9 (aa) the prisoner would not be a danger to society if transferred to 10 prerelease custody or supervised release;

11 (bb) the prisoner has made a good faith effort to lower their 12 recidivism risk through participation in recidivism reduction 13 programs or productive activities; and 14 (cc) the prisoner is unlikely to recidivate; or 15 (ii) in the case of a prisoner being placed in supervised release, the 16 prisoner has been determined under the System to be a minimum or 17 low risk to recidivate pursuant to the last reassessment of the 18 prisoner.

19 18 U.S.C. § 3624(g) (emphasis added).

20 Therefore, while the statute permits petitioner to earn time credits under the FSA, it does 21 not allow for the application of those time credits in his case, because the statute limits eligibility 22 to those inmates who pose a minimum to low risk of recidivism. As petitioner has been assessed 23 at high risk of recidivating, he is statutorily ineligible for application of earned time credits.
24 Respondent is also correct that this determination is solely within the discretion of the BOP. As a 25 matter of law, 34 U.S.C. § 60541(g) grants to the Attorney General the discretion to release 26 certain prisoners to serve the latter part of their sentence on home confinement. Petitioner has no 27 constitutional right to relief that is purely discretionary. Connecticut Bd. of Pardons v. Dumschat, 28 452 U.S. 458, 465 (1981) (“In terms of the Due Process Clause, a . . . felon’s expectation that a lawfully imposed sentence will be commuted or that he will be pardoned is no more substantial than an inmate’s expectation, for example, that he will not be transferred to another prison; it is simply a unilateral hope.”) Petitioner’s reliance on the Ex Post Facto Clause is also unavailing because the FSA did not increase the length of petitioner’s sentence, and it did not remove any credits petitioner already earned.

1 Petitioner fails to establish a statutory or constitutional right to application of earned time 2 credits, and therefore fails to state a claim for relief.

3 Conclusion

4 In accordance with the above, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that:

5 1. Respondent's motion to dismiss (ECF No. 18) is granted; 6 2. This action is dismissed; and 7 3. The Clerk of the Court is directed to enter judgment and close the case.
